ABOUT THE THIRD PARTY.

EVAN JONES ON THE CONDITION OF THE ALLIANCE.

Hogg's Prospects Not Promising—

His Results to the Order—Political Affiliations—Views on Cotton Production.

DUBLIN, Tex., May 11.—Learning upon my arrival here this morning that Col. Evan Jones, president of the Farmers' alliance of Texas, was at home, I called upon him this afternoon. President Jones lives in a very neat and commodious frame residence about a mile northeast of the business part of Dublin, but his farm is about five miles from town. He has lived in Erath county since 1876, having moved here from Missouri. He is a plain, frank gentleman, apparently about 50 years of age, is well informed upon current matters of general political interest, upon which he is free but modest in expressing his opinions. He has just returned from the meeting of the presidents and executive committees of thirteen state alliances of the south, recently held at Birmingham, Ala. He seemed glad to meet a News representative and in answer to my intrrrogatories said:

"The Farmers' alliance was never in a more harmonious condition than right now. There is nothing like a boom on, but a gradual, steady, onward movement. Our relation to politics is strictly educational, and as an order will make no nominations. I suppose the people's party will nominate a state ticket."

"Will the Texas Farmers' alliance support the ticket of the peope's party, Col. Jones?"

"Yes, practically it will. Indeed it will naturally go that way. We have nowhere else to go, in fact. Chairman Finley has ruled out of the democratic party all who are in favor of financial reform, and we will naturally go with the party which we regard as acquiescing in our views on this momentous question."

"What do you think of Gov. Hogg's prospect of re-election?"

"Well, I size up the present gubernational campaign about this way: Clark's strength lies largely in the cities and towns, while Hogg's is in the rural districts. The strength of the alliance and the people's party also lies mostly in the rural districts. Therefore the country vote will be greatly divided. I am confident that the people's party ticket will receive a large support from farmers who do not belong to the alliance. Indeed, I believe the reform movement will get five votes ontside the order of the alliance to every one it gets inside of it. This of course will greatly weaken Gov. Hogg's chances for re-election. I tell you, sir, the people are being educated, and Texas is keeping up with the procession. The 'boys from up the creek' are about as well posted as the average city gentleman, and it is not near such an easy matter to throw sand in their eyes as it used to be. Heretofore the politicians did all the talking, but now the farmers are putting some questions to the officeseekers that puzzle and embarrass them, as Gov Hogg could testify. The people are being educated thoroughly on matters of vital interest and they will stand by the principles they advocate."

"What do you think of Gov. Hogg's administration, colonel?"

"There are some things in the present administration which are not at all satisfactory to our order. We are emphatically opposed to Mr. Hogg's plan of lending the school money to railroads and we want the railroad commission elective. We do not think that we have been treated with proper courtesy by Mr. Hogg either. He not only disregarded the wishes of the alliance in ignoring us in his appointments of the commissioners, but since opening his canvass he has added insult to injury by maligning us. In his Corsicana speech he said that our state convention at Waco was composed of railroad lobbyists when he certainly ought to have known better. One hundred and forty counties were represented in that convention and it was composed wholly of representative Texas farmers. No others are allowed in our conventions, as Gov. Hogg is certainly aware. His insulting and vulgar remark that "the alliance had got too big for its breeches' was entirely uncalled for, but he will find that it is too big and too broad in its conceptions of good government ever to elect James Stephen Hogg again governor of Texas. Two years ago our whole strength went to make him governor. Now he has no following in the order."

Col. Jones thinks that Hogg is gaining no strength in the present campaign. In answer te the question as to his individual choice for governor he said:

"Judge T. L. Nugent of Fort Worth is my preference, decidedly, and he is developing great strength too."

President Jones has no idea of becoming a gubernatorial candidate, but it seems to be generally conceded that he will be nominated by the people's party for congress. Said he:

"While I have no political aspirations whatever, if my friends think I can render acceptible service in the house of representatives, and see fit to nominate me, I will abide by their action."

Branching out upon agricultural subjects, the great alliance leader said:

"I do not think the acreage of cotton will be materially diminished in the south this year; nor do I believe its reduction would have any effect upon the price. There is no overproduction of cotton as some claim, but there is an alarming under consumption. From the best estimate I can obtain of the world's production and consumption of cotton, there is now less than three and one-half pounds per capita. Ellison & Co., last year's total crop 10,388,000 bales averaging 463 pounds. Of this number, the south raised 8,216,000 bales. A most important thing in this connection is quite a large importation of cotton to Amerian factories from India and Egypt. This cotton grown by the ignorant, degraded pauper labor of oriental countries, brought into competition with our product, not only in England and other European manufacturing countries, but right here at home. In 1889 American manufactures imported $1,194,505 worth of this oriental cotton. In 1890 the imports amounted to $198,223 more than in 1889 while last year there was a still greater increase amounting to almost $1,500,000 over 1890. This importa.ion of pauper-raised cottor is the condition that now confronts us."

Col. Jones thinks that if Harrison and Cleveland are the nominees of their respective parties this year the independents will have a good chance to elect their ticket.

Speaking of the great question of financial reform he said:

The main thing that we are now contending for is the principle of the sub-treasury idea, leaving the details with congress."

President Jones takes an optomistic view of things on the whole and believes the growing intelligence of the people will save the country from threatened financial wreck and ruin.

Dead Loads of Fun.

First Boy—Having any fun?

Second Boy—He, he! Dead loads. We've got a can o' nitroglycerine under a' ole hat, an we're waitin fer somebody to come 'long an kick it.—Good News.

Quotation From Senator Coke.

In his silver speech in the United States Senate on April 26, last, Mr. Coke said:

"The executive department of the Government, in all its branches, from Hayes's administration to Harrison's including Cleveland's, has been most thoroughly and completely under the control and influence and dictation of the great capitalistic combination which has just scored another victory against the people on the silver issue. All these administrations made bitter, savage war on silver, and left no means untried to discredit and break it down and debase it. Nobody knew how Mr. Cleveland stood on the silver question until after he was elected, and he commenced to war on it before his inauguration in a letter addressed to a committee of members of the house of representatives (one hundred of them) who were deputed to confer with him on the subject.

All of these administrations, from the president down to the lowest reporting official of the treasury department, in messages and reports denounced silver coinage, urged its abandonment, denounced the $346,000,000 of legal-tender notes as a debt of the government which should be paid and the notes taken out of circulation, retired and cancelled, although not a cent of interest runs on them; advisiag the country that gold and national bank notes should be our only circulating medium, with subsidiary silver coin for purposes of exchange. This is the feast to which our people were invited in response to their oft-repeated demand for free silver coinage, for a perpetuation of the legal-tender note issue, and such other increase of circulation as could be made in view of the money famine under which they were suffering.

No bolder or more audacious defiance of the popular will has ever occurred in the history of any government, whether Republican or monarchical, than for nearly fifteen years has marked the course of the executive department of this Government in its dealings with the silver question. The power of the British-American syndicate of bankers and bondholders, which in 1873 accomplished the demonetization of silver, and since that time has fought its restoration with all its tremendous resources, has proved stronger than the people. Secure in the renomination of President Harrison by the Republican party, and of his hostility to the free coinage of silver, if he should perchance be re-elected, this combination is now giving its undivided attention to placing at the head of the Democratic ticket a name which, like that of President Harrison, is backed by a record which of itself is a guaranty that free silver coinage will be an impossibility if he should become President.

A Kansas Cyclone.

WICHITA, Kan., May 13—The formation of three tornadoes was witnessed here this afternoon, about six miles south of the city and the other the same distance northeast. A dispatch to the Eagle from Augusta, Butler county, says the northeastern twister struck that place, demolishing fifteen houses and wrecking the Santa Fe stock pens. W. S. Ellsworth had his leg broken by flying timber and Frank March was slightly hurt. Nearly all the people saw the storm approaching and sought safety in cyclone caves. The town of Towanda, a few miles north of Augusta, was also visited by the storm and half a dozen houses demolished. It will be remembered that Towanda was literally wiped from the face of the earth in the latter part of March and a number of people killed and injured. Citizens who had the courage to remain rebuilt houses and these were the buildings blown down this evening. It is not known whether any one was hurt.

HARROLD EXCITED.

Farmers Fill the Town to Learn if Their Titles are Affected by the State's Suit.

HARROLD, May 15.—Harrold was thrown into excitement yesterday by the news of the suit brought by the State vs. Houston and Texas Central railway company for 169,000 acres of land in Hardeman, Wichita and Wilbarger counties, of which 54,000 acres in Wilbarger, and all the railroad land adjacent to Harrold is affected by it. Lawyer James J. Holmes had a list of the lands affected in this county and his office was crowded by farmers to see if their land was included in the suit. There is much feeling over the matter, and J. S. Hogg is being roundly berated by the farmers here to-night as the railroad has disposed of 90 per cent. of it to farmers, who have improved it and are living on it.

Threw Himself Under a Moving Train.

VAN ALSTYNE, Tex., May 13.—Last week Mike Evans evidenced considerable signs of aberration of mind but as he seemed to grow better nothing much was done. A few days ago he suddenly left and went to Sherman and endeavored to draw some money he had at the city bank, but Capt. Bean of this place informed the bank of his state of mind and the bank refused to honor his check. Capt. Bean went to Sherman this week hoping to find Evans and bring him home but his efforts were fruitless. To day Evans came home and while a freight train was moving out deliberately threw himself under the wheels and was killed.

People's Party Committee.

OMAHA, May 11.—The executive committee of the people's party national committee met this afternoon. The chief topic discussed was whether Omaha can accommodate the national convention. The banks and railroads have refused to subscribe to the fund, but the people's party adherents are hustling to raise funds, as they claim the action of banks and railroads will be the best campaign arguments that can be advanced. The banks and railroads base their refusal to subscribe on the ground that the platform of the people's party is inimical to their interests.

Laying Up Ammunition.

Third party orators are saving up the hard things that the Hogg and Clark factions are saying about each other, and after the democratic nomination is made they will make war on the nominee with democratic ammunition. Then some of the public speakers in the democratic ranks will have to defend the nominee against their own utterances or else take to the woods. It's a pretty pickle they are getting into.—Greenville Banner.

St. Louis (Mo.) Monitor: How can you denounce the two old parties as the essence of rottenness, and then fuse with either of them?

A Generous Odfellow.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 15.—E. N. DeBoisser, a wealthy Frenchman who for many years resided near Williamsburg, Franklin county, Kan., has made a deed of money, bank stock and property, in all amounting to $125,000 to the Odd Fellows of Kansas, to found a home for children of deceased members of the order.

The democratic majority in congress has succeeded admirably in rendering the election of a democratic president so uncertain that even Mr. Cleveland may lose if he is nominated. The democratic party is weaker than it was when congress met and seems to be utterly unable to get itself together.

Both Ways at Once.

"Gentlemen, may I go with you?"

"Where?"

"I don't care."

"But we are going in opposite directions. This gentleman is going north while I am going south."

"I don't care."

"But which of us do you wish to accompany?"

"Both."

"But you can't go in two directions at once?"

"Can't I, though? I guess you don't know who I am. I'm the Democratic platform."—Judge.

Easy to Believe.

"It is said that chess was played one hundred and fifty years before Christ," observed the deliberate player.

"It must be older," replied the impatient one, "for I've been waiting since 150 B. C. for you to make a move."—Judge.

Columbia (S.C.) Cotton Plant: There are hundreds of laborers in our cities who are living in squalor, and their children deprived of comfort and education because work is not to be had. There is something radically wrong in the social system that pillories a man for not working, and then furnishes no work to do.

It may give you a grain of comfort to-night to confide your secret to a friend, but reflect that when you awake to-morrow morning the grain of comfort will have changed in the dark hours to a weight of leaden anxiety.

Killed by Lightning.

DENTON, Tex., May 15.—Lillie, the five-year-old daughter of W. E. Bailey, living one mile south of Little Elm, in this county, was killed by lightning at 12 o'clock last night. The lightning struck the stove-pipe, and the child was on a bed near the stove. No other damage was done to room or contents.

GOOD MEASURE.
Yes, good measure, pressed down and running over.
Some of these little proprietors of sarsaparillas put up in half-pint bottles are envious of the increasing popularity of Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla, put up as it is in large quart bottles, and intimate that theirs is more concentrated. This is as false as deceit can be. A teaspoonful of Bull's Sarsaparilla contains more concentrated medicinal virtue than a tablespoonful of any other sarsaparilla made. A bottle of Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla contains six times the curative virtue of a bottle of any other blood purifier made. No exception is made. Now an invalid wants his money's worth. He wants good measure. Therefore, unless misled through ignorance, when his system needs a blood purifier, when his system needs a tonic, when his system is breaking down from blood impurity or some wasting disease, he will demand of his druggist a bottle of Bull's Sarsaparilla, and on no occasion be persuaded to take anything that may be offered in its stead as being "just as good." There is no other remedy so good as Bull's Sarsaparilla for such diseases as scrofula, syphilitic affections, salt-rheum, itch, eczema, pimples, sores, rheumatism, lame back, swollen joints, aching muscles, nervous weakness, nervous debility, loss of appetite, loss of flesh, loss of strength, sleeplessness, premature old age, etc.
A GOOD
T. B. Wood, Jeffersonville, Ind., writes: "For seven years I had been an invalid. I became a chronic medicine taker. There is not a blood remedy or a tonic advertised that I did not try. From none of them did I derive any permanent good. I became discouraged. My system was full of blood impurities. My skin was covered in places with brown patches and little sores. My muscles had lost their strength. I was very weak. My appetite and digestion were miserable. I kept growing worse and worse until I began to use Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla. I then began to rally at once, and grew stronger and stronger. I have now used probably 30 bottles, and my improvement in looks and feeling is so great I seem like another person. I am now well and strong, and give the whole credit of my recovery to Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla."
Your children will be more healthy, happy and pretty, if you occasionally give them Dr. John Bull's Worm Destroyers. Try them. Price 25 cents.
When you have chills and fever, if you want a sure cure and one that does not taste bad, take Smith's Tonic Syrup. It will please you better than quinine or any other chill medicine.

"We have no hesitation in pronouncing Ayer's Hair Vigor unequaled for dressing the hair, and we do this after long experience in its use. This preparation preserves the hair, cures dandruff and all diseases of the scalp, makes rough and brittle hair soft and pliant, and prevents baldness. THURSDAY, MAY 19, 1892.

WE have the best country in the world. What is the matter?

WE understand that Sherman is putting her artesian well up and dealing the pieces out to make post holes.

WE are optomistic. The American people are patriotic. They read. A well informed people can safely be trusted.

IT is claimed that the expenses of the present congress exceeds the last billion dollar congress. "Pay your money and take your choice."

GOVERNOR HOGG deliberately informed the legislature that if an elective commission bill was passed he would exercise his veto power.

THE men who advance the theory of "overproduction" also claim that the producer should not talk politics but work harder.

Which is the Liar! Or do Both Lie?

This third party trick is nothing but a scheme to gobble up the democratic vote in the South and elect a republican president.—Atlanta Constitution (Dem.)

Kansas republicans should feel that the sole purpose of the third party crew is to elect a democratic president in 1892.—Topeka Capital (Rep.)

MAKE it possible for every honest citizen to wear good clothes and be well fed and we will guarantee that the "overproduction" will be wiped out and all idlers will be called on to create more while, the merchant will increase his clerk hire.

WHY is it that when a man leaves a political or religious organization, almost every member thereof commences at once to villify him by heaping the most heinous charges upon his head? After associating almost a lifetime with him they eagrly cast the mantle of shame over his past existence. The jewel of consistency is rare indeed.

THE democrats who are objecting to the "twelfth plank" should write to their democratic leaders in the north—Cleveland, Hill, Voorhees, Palmer & Co., who, we have heard, are pretty good hands when it comes to issuing bait to catch the soldier vote of the north—they would likely give their southern brethern some "pointers."

THE democratic stump speakers are claiming that the people's party placed the "twelfth plank" in their platform to catch votes in the North and took it out to catch them in the south. Admitting this to be so, possibly they caught the idea from Mr. Mills who makes free trade speeches in one section of the country and tariff speeches in another section—read his New England speeches.

Deal Fairly.

After all the howling about the secret oath-bound organizations, it is a noticeable fact that the people's party is the most courteous, liberal and non-secret organization now in existence. They actually invite the opposition to send their speakers to attend the (people's party) clubs and patiently submit to the lambasting, which said speakers always deals out against the people's party.

When do we ever hear of a club meeting of the old parties inviting a man to make an opposition speech to them? These sickly, peuerile charges against the independent element of Collin county will no longer be believed. The people are too well informed to swallow everything dished out to them by a "secret plotting horde" of old time wire pullers.

That Twelfth Plank.

There is considerable "Gush" being indulged in about the twelfth plank of the St. Louis platform, which is not in existence. The "plank" which the opponents of the people's party claim was placed in the Saint Louis demands, has reference to paying ex soldiers the difference of the gold dollar and the greenback dollar, they having received the latter in pay for services on the field of battle, and which we are told was worth 40 per cent. less than the gold standard. The obligation of the government to the "patriotic" gentlemen who held the bonds were to be paid in gold, while the poor soldiers who were forced to tramp the field of action for the pitiful sum of $13 per month was compelled to take a currency with a depreciated value of 40 per cent. Admitting that such a plank had been placed in any platform, who can deny the justness thereof? The very men who made it possible for those bonds to be worth dollar for dollar, was discriminated against by the bondholding gentry and their government cohorts. Another peculiar phase of the situation is, that the same fellows who are howling about this "plank," saying that it was put there to catch the republican vote of the north, almost in the same breath claim that the people's party was originated to break up the democratic party. There is a strong desire among the masses of the people to wipe out forever all sectional differences for the sake of peace and prosperity, yet certain gentlemen are inclined to arouse prejudice in order to strengthen the tottering political foundation upon which they have stood for years—and which will finally be swept away by the relentless waves of popular indignation.

Discourteous Proceedings.

Not many weeks ago the Willow Springs independents sent a challenge to the McKinney democratic club to discuss certain questions. The challenge was not accepted because several members of said club thought the question unfair. There are some lawyer candidates for county nominations now, who are going around to peoples party meetings without invitations from organizers of said meetings and persisting, through their friends, in speaking. These meetings are generally held without experienced speakers and without knowledge of a joint debate. The people's party advocates have ever shown their willingness to enter into joint debate and often give out appointments and invite the same, but they are not so discourteous as to intrude upon the meetings of their opponents without invitation. A meeting was called at Stiff Chapel last Monday night in the interest of the people's party, and no arrangements had been made for a joint debate, in fact their speaker did not get there. But when the crowd gathered, lo, and behold! two of McKinney's lawyers were on hand, demanding a hearing against local talent. We heard several residents of Stiff Chapel state that they would like to hear a joint discussion of equal talent, but severely criticised the unfair and discourteous methods resorted to by the enemies of the people's move.

For McCulloch.

BLOSSOM, TEX., May 15.—The friends of reform organized at Byrotown, Friday night last. Tom Link, a broad-shouldered six foot Kentuckian, was elected president. Voters swarm like bees in that section and are all for reform. L. L. Polk was their unanimous choice for president, H. E. McCulloch for govenor and Pat Clark for congress.

Joint Discussion at Lipan.

GRANBURY, TEX., May 15.—There was a joint discussion at Lipan, this county, yesterday, between J. J Eager for the third party, and T. O. Martin for Democracy. The third party is organized in every precinct in the county. The Democrats are fighting each other over state officers and the People's party is growing stronger. They meet here Tuesday to organize for political purposes.

A Wonderful Growth.

The Dallas News Says the People's Party Will Assume Large Proportions.

THE BILLION DOLLAR CONGRESS.

The following leading editorial appeared in the Dallas News last Monday morning:

"That the people's party has had a marvelous growth within the past two years there is none to dispute. Neither the democratic nor the republican party the original free soil party ever had such sudden and general increase. If the organization continues to grow in strength and numbers as it has done for a year the people's or third party may carry a dozen states in two years more. The greatest change of sentiment witnessed since the war is the recent willingness and eagerness of many lifelong members of the old parties to leave the ancient ships and embark with the new. For ten years or more the farmers and other industrial people have been restless and discontented. Various organizations have been formed and tried, from which, as a rule, all political questions were cautiously excluded. Knowing as the News did that there is necessarily some politics in every organization of the people bearing upon social and economic questions; that in a country like this politics continues to percolate until it touches everything, including the private business and domestic concerns of the citizen who buys either dry goods, groceries or medicines; knowing this, the News ventured to declare that the result of primary and concerted agitations of discontent would be a separate political organization, and was hotly condemned for this suggestion by some people who are now ardent third party advocates. After all, most of the troubles of which we complain even in this government of and by the people are traceable to political causes and have come upon us as penalties for our general political misbehavior as a self-governing people. There is some politics in every cup of coffee, in every pound of cotton, in every barlow knife. The idea that it is an offense for other organizations to consider and resolve political questions is doubtless the result of the persistent efforts of the managing politicians of the old parties to keep the people completely rounded up for their own special uses. The corral is broken and people from Maine to Texas are refusing to be penned and branded any longer. In the natural course of evolution this result might have been expected; but the egregious failures of the old parties to satisfy the people have hastened. A democratic billion dollar congress follows a republican billion dollar congress. The old parties have united in loading the country with enormous pension appropriations. Between their business has been kept in interminable torment on the ragged edge of fiatistic caprice as to the final course of the government in relation to currency and banking. Yet there is no assured prospect of the triumphant progress of the third party. Organization develops appetite and appetite is sure more or less to corrupt conscience and courage. Then a great many of the political dissenters do not indorse all the demands of the Ocala-St. Louis platforms. Some of the demands are radical and dangerous and have a decided tendency to set large numbers of conservative citizens against the organization who would otherwise be disposed to go with it. Without such demands the people's party might have won in several states this year. But no political party can make specifications to suit everybody. Members of the democratic household do not agree all along the line by any means. They disagree regarding the free coinage of silver and even on the tariff. So it is with the republicans. Then why should every people's party man be required to indorse and swallow every one of the Ocala demands? He may approve them in the main, or he may not even do this and still vote with the third party people if he considers it absolutely necessary to get rid of the two great historic political appetites. The idea that one must indorse all the Ocala demands is keeping fewer people out of the third party than formerly and the old parties, because of inopportune mistakes and failures, are losing their hold upon the country every day. Under the circumstances it is safe to predict some radical changes in the ranks within the next two years. In the meantime the plain people are thinking about their politics as they have never thought before.

Unprejudiced Maine.

We clip the following from the platform of the people's party of Maine. Read and reflect.

The people's party of Maine in convention assembled, proud of its record as a pioneer state in earlier days of the cause of reform, sends greeting to the South and West. We hail with joy the union which will be consummated at Omaha, July 4. We congratulate farmer L. L. Polk upon his able and successful administration in the task of organizing and uniting the wealth producers of the South and West, and we suggest that our party in other states consider the advisability of naming a southern man for the head of our national ticket in the coming campaign.

Putnam's People's Party.

PUTNAM, TEX., May 15.—The People's party held a meeting here to-day for the purpose of perfecting organization in this precinct. The attendance was large and enthusiastic. A resolution pledging fidelity to the St. Louis platform was adopted.

The Sham and the Real.

Every good thing has its imitators, every genuine article its counterfeits. The Ammonia and Alum Baking Powders sold over the counters are no more like Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, than the paste is like the real diamond, or a counterfeit is like one of the old master's genuine paintings.

When greedy and merciless manufacturers claim their adulterated and harmful baking powders are as good as Dr. Price's, they know they are not telling the truth. These people know they are destroying the stomachs and the complexion of the consumers, and there are many grocers recommending such powders over their counters—knowing same to be injurious and worthless—simply to make a large profit.

Dr. Price, a concientious physician, has spent a lifetime in perfecting and popularizing his Cream Baking Powder, the only Pure Cream Tartar Powder now to be obtained.

Multitudes of imitators all over the land have sprung up, not to imitate the purity of Price's Cream Baking Powder, but to see how cheap they could make their counterfeits and hoodwink the public.

Some use Ammonia and others Alum, but all these shams cry in chorus, "Buy this, its just as good as Dr. Price's and much cheaper.

Price's Cream Baking Powder is the standard for purity and perfection the world over, and is beyond comparison.

Dr. Price stands for Pure Food and a foe to all shams.

Congress At Last Takes Action.

A bill has been introduced at Washington requiring all baking powders containing alum and ammonia to be so labeled. This is a step in the right direction, and has been long foreshadowed by the action of state legislatures, boards of health, food commisioners, ect, in this matter. The bill affords needed protection to the public, for the evidence as to the injurious effects of alum and ammonia is very heavy; but it will nevertheless be fought bitterly by the manufacturers whom its effects who are accustomed to sell their goods as "pure Cream of Tartar," "absolutely pure," ect.

The bill is something needed. If a maker uses a drug in his powder, the name of which he does not want have printed on his label, it is prima facie evidence that there is something wrong. We hope the subject will be vigorously prosecuted all over the country, not only as regards baking powder, but all other food adulterations,

This bill may incidentally benefit the makers of pure articles, but if it should, this is only an additional point in its favor.

Following is a list of the principal brands of baking powder that have been examined and found to contain either alum or ammonia:

Calumet, Climax, Royal, Chicago Yeast, Forest City, Zipps Economy, Taylor's, Unrivaled, Rocket, Globe, Silver Star, Eddy and Eddy's, Grant's, Bon Bon Hotel, Kenton and many other brands.

Wants to Wait a While.

To the reform democracy of Collin county. Gentlemen would it not be well to stick to the democratic party until the Fourth of next July, and see what the third party does for us? I know what your answer will be. "We stuck to the democratic party for 27 years under the promise. Just wait until we get the majority. We have waited and worked with patience and in good faith until we have got 236 democrats to 88 republicans and 13 of the republicans come to our aid, to place silver where our forefathers left it; worse than all, there were 8 independents that come to our aid, for unlimited coinage of silver, which gave us 257 to 75. Justice had to give way to bribery. She could not go again, you say, if there is any truth in Bailey." There is nothing for us in either of the old parties, here is what he says, "the influences here are all against a man who dares to defy the customs and to insist upon obeying the constitution." Again, he says "many of these wouldbe statesmen seem to think, that in order to show that they are broad-minded they must effect to despise the opinions of their people. I confess to you that I never feared for the future of my country as I do to-day, and as sure as we live we must go back to old democratic principles or else we will go forward to absolute ruin."

Now gentlemen, I admit that Bailey's letter, and the action of our last congress has drove a million of voters to the third party, but would not it be well for all true democrats to hold still until the fourth of next July and see all three of the parties' platforms and who they nominate for president and vice-president. It is true that we have not had a national ticket since the war. How can a democratic party be run on a sectional platform? We have not had either president or vice-president from a southern state since Andrew Johnson's day. All sensible men admit that our government can not stand, and the north and north-east rule the south and north-west. Now wouldn't it be well for us to stand still and lay all prejudice down and take the stand the grand old Henry Clay taken when he saw his party was going off into abolitionism. He said "when my party becomes merged into contemptible abolitionism I will renounce them forever and act with the party who are national irrespecters of names."

Now gentlemen this is a serious day, much more so than the last war. Did you ever think that Abraham Linco'n, with four lines across a sheet of paper, freed four millions of slaves, and those four lines inslaved fifty millions of free people. Now, do you think he intended to inslave his own blood? Every honest man will answer no. Then how has this been done? Coke says "by the combined money power of Europe and America." He says, "Mr. Ernest Seyd, a German English banker went in with our capitalist. Now, gentlemen England tried us with the sword, to force us to slavery; she failed, now she has combined her money with the eastern capitalist and has got us on the brink of slavery. Coke has said all for us that man could say. He says that we have carried more than 30 states and instructed our delegate right, and there is nearly two thirds of the democrats with a handsome majority of republicans to assist us at all times, and yet capitalists have rode over us. Coke says "the time has come for business." Let us stay with him until we see the division between the eastern capitalist and the south and north-west. Their three platforms will draw the line. When the line is drawn all true democrats will fall with the south and southwest.

JOHN JOHNSON.

"Your Policy Saved our Farm."

BELTON, TEXAS, March 20th, 1892.

Mr. JESSE W. PIERCE, Special Agent New York Life Ins. Co., of New York, Belton, Tex.

DEAR SIR: I desire to thank you and your valuable Company for the prompt manner in which you have just settled and paid the policy for $2,000 on the life of my late husband, Mr. J. M. Tillman. His action in taking this insurance looks almost like a special Providence; as there is a mortgage for nearly $3,000 on our farm which we never could have paid, had it not been for his timely good judgment in providing for this awful emergency. With the $2,000 we can safely say that our farm is safe beyond a doubt.

My husband was a strong believer in life insurance, but had often been the victim of the so called insurance companies (assessment and cheap concerns). About a year ago he realized his mistake and took a policy in the New York life; at which time you snatched him, as it were, from a sinking ship. Again thanking you for the kind treatment, and recommending your Company to all seekers of good and safe insurance, I am

Sincerely yours,

ARABELLA I. TILLMAN.

Who will be next? FATHERS and HUSBANDS, if you are in debt or do not own your home, or if you have not made ample provisions to complete the education of your children, in event of your death, and you are not carrying a sufficient amount of life insurance to accomplish that end, INSURE AT ONCE. It is a duty you owe them, and is more essential than to provide for them while you live.

PAUL'S COMPARISON.—Here is one man who, through neglect, fails to support his family while he lives, or after he dies. Here is another man who abhors the Scriptures and rejects God. Which of these men is the worse? Well, you say the latter. Paul says the former. Paul says that a man who neglects to care for his household is more obnoxious than a man who rejects the Scriptures. "He that provideth not for his own, and especially those of his own household, is worse than an infidel."

Life Insurance Companies Help Most of us to Provide for our Families after We are Gone.

But if we have the money to pay the premiums and do not pay the premiums, we have no right to expect mercy at the hand of God in the judgment. We are worse than Tom Paine, worse than Voltaire, and worse than Shaftesbury. The Bible declares it: we are worse than an infidel.—Talmage.

In this race between life and death we all know that death is going to win. We do not know what instant the mile post may loom up before us. DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

MOTHERS, if you are in any way dependent upon your husbands for a home or for the payment of any indebtedness, or for funds to educate your children, and they are not carrying life insurance, investigate this matter and insist upon their insuring at once. It is a duty you owe to your children.

The worry caused by knowing that LOVED ONES would be left destitute is more injurious to the sick Father than the disease. Life Insurance overcomes that worry, and prolongs, and in many cases saves life.

"Oh," says some one, "I have more faith than you; I believe when I go out of this world the Lord will take care of my family." Yes, He will provide for them. Go to Blackwell's Island, go through all the poor-houses of the country, and I will show you how often God provides for the neglected children of neglectful parents. That is, He provides for them through public charity. As for myself, I would rather have the Lord provide for my family in a private home, and through my own industry, and paternal and conjugal faithfulness.—Talmage.

Old line life insurance has been in existence over two hundred years, and is regulated and controlled by the laws of our country, and is as secure as the United States government, and with the fact that companies are regulated and controlled by law, and that each State has an official, appointed to look after the interests of its policy holders, and that they are patronized by the leading moneyed men of the world, should convince the most skeptical that it is a good investment.

It is an investment that guarantees the poor man the same results on his money it does the shrewdest financier in the world, i. e., his policy is paid in full in the event of his death, and he receives the same returns on money invested at the maturity of his policy.

There is no investment that equals a life policy. By it you are enabled to instantly create a capital which would otherwise be impossible. You can pay the premium out of your income, and by so doing you accomplish two purposes:

First, in the event of your death you furnish your family or estate a portion of the money you would have earned if you had lived.

Second, if you live you have laid away a portion of your income during your producing years which guarantees you a comfortable competency in your old age, in event of loss.

REMEMBER, policies issued by the New York Life mature and are payable immediately in case of death, or at the expiration of ten, fifteen or twenty years, according to the period selected.

Those that mature by expiration, in addition to the protection they have furnished, return a very handsome rate of interest on the money invested or saved.

Under the celebrated policies issued by the NEW YORK LIFE, YOU WIN IF YOU DIE; YOU WIN IF YOU LAPSE YOUR POLICY; YOU WIN IF YOU LIVE to the expiration of the period. It is a dead open and shut, you are guaranteed good results on money invested or saved.

For cost and results of such policies, as over 14,000 of the leading men of Texas hold in the New York Life, send date of birth to

27% Difference

The "Royal" the Strongest and Purest Baking Powder.

Whether any other baking powder is equal to "Royal," let the official reports decide. When the different powders were purchased on the open market and examined by Prof. Chandler, of the New-York Board of Health, the result showed that Royal Baking Powder contained twenty-seven per cent. greater strength than any other brand.

When compared in money value, this difference would be as follows:

If one pound of Royal Baking Powder sells for 50 cents,

One pound of no other powder is worth over 36 cents.

If another baking powder is forced upon you by the grocer in place of the Royal, see that you are charged the correspondingly lower price.

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial size free. At all Druggists.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitian papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy, is sold at Smith Bros. Drug Store. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for Heart Diseases. Mrs. Chas. Benoy, Loveland, Colo, says its effects on her were marvelsous. Elegant book on Heart Disease free.

People's Party Call.

As the Reform parties (Jeffersonian democrats and what is called people's party) have joined forces. It now become necessary that all reformers meet at their respective places on the 4th day of June, and elect delegates to the county meeting, which will be on the 11th day of June. This change is made to conform to the joint call. The basis of representation to be one delegate for every ten votes cast at such boxes at the last state election.

D. C. FLIPPEN,
Temporary Chairman.

There has been some confusion about the place of meeting to select delegates. Owing to the fact that the first call was to meet at the school houses, if any community deems it more convenient to meet at their school-house to select delegates, these delegates, we are informed, will, in all probability be recognized.—Ed.

The Mantle of Death.—A Strong Statement.

ILLINOS SCHOOL HOUSE, May 10, 1892.
Editor Democrat:

Hoary headed death, with his mighty scythe, has appeared in our midst, and with grim determination mowed down two loved ones and left the parents to mourn their loss. One of the chosen ones being a young man by the name of Noles; the other the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thomas. We extend to the bereaved ones our deepest sympathies in this the greatest trial of human existence. Weep not, disconsolate ones, but let the motive of your lives be to prepare to strike hands with them and to hold them in a loving embrace in that happy home across the dark turbid stream that shall bear our frail barks over its bosom, either to a sweet life forever, or to eternal misery.

Mrs. Dr. Jones has been quite sick but is now convalescing—also, Mrs. Giles and Mrs. Dickson are on the sick list.

John Hutson, the Collin county pedestrian, strolled leisurely through town to day at the rate of 40 miles an hour.

Quite a crowd of men, women and children gathered at the school-house last night to hear brother Kennedy speak, he failed to appear, the audience was entertained by some good, solid home talent—among them were men upon whose heads the foam of the turbulent waves of the ocean of time is resting. It is encouraging to the younger men to hear these old fathers talk—these grand old men who carried their muskets and looked down the yawning, dingy chasm of the frowning cannon in times of war. They say the times have changed. They say "those principles for which we fought, no longer exist;" they say so called democracy of to-day is not the kind that prompted them to face the bayonet. Younger men tell us this is not true. Men who never saw a cannon. Men who are wrapped up in scheming lawyers and designing demagogues.. Men whose highest ambition is to blackmail the alliance and to hurl opprobious epithets at the peoples party. Great God! what do they care whether the fundamental principles of this government are carried out just so they get an office! They call us calamity howlers. They say that we are not oppressed. But we are. The iron heel of monopoly is crushing the very life out of the honest sons of toil.

Monopoly is reaching out its long, grasping, usurping, blood letting fingers, and throttling not only the poor, hard working men, but they are clutching at the vitals of the widows and orphans. In its greed for wealth it would see women and children suffer: yes, the very fundamental principles of this glorious republic debased and destroyed. The blood of the patriots watered the tree of liberty, and prepared it to bear fruits of love, peace and happiness; but these despoilers, these gloating aristocrats, these wily politicians and scheming demagogues have undermined its very roots and so impregnated it with their poisonous influences, I am fearful it will require extreme measures to revive and re-animate it. But it must be done. Our childrens' welfare is at stake. Their fate stares us horribly in the face. Will we, as free born citizens of this grand and glorious republic, stand idly and heedlessly by and see the American eagle drooping and cowed? Will we see our "flag of the free heart's hope and home" trailed in the dust by a clique of moneyed vampires, and offer no resistance? No! The people mean something in this just, spontaneous and universal uprising, and they are going to make the two old parties know and feel that the wishes of the laboring masses of this country must, at least, be respected. In all political upheavals; in all just demands made by a scorned and oppressed people; in all ages in political revolution "where truth had been crushed to earth," it required an unwavering spirit, an iron will, a deep determination prompted by love of posterity, and a back-bone like an anaconda to stand by those principles upon which safe government rests, against capital and hereditary rules. It requires that to day.

Solid Shot From Heavy Guns.

"Monarchy is sometimes hinted at as a possible refuge from the powers of the people. It would be scarcely justified were I to omit exercising a warning voice against returning to despotism. It is the effort to place capital above labor in the structure of the government. I bid the laboring people beware of surrendering a power which they now possess, and when surrendered their liberty will be lost."—Abraham Lincoln.

"There is gathered around the capital of this nation a gang of pirates, who have thundered successfully at the doors until they have driven the government into the most preposterous acts of bad faith and legalized robbery that ever oppressed a free nation since the dawn of history."—O. P. Morton.

Notwithstanding the fact that we are the wealthiest nation on the earth, there are 10,000,000 people who never have their appetites satisfied in any single day in all the year, and 1,000,000 able bodied tramps willing but unable to find employment.—John J. Ingalls."

"Monopoly has the republican party in one pocket and the democratic party in the other pocket."—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage.

"The analogy between the industrial conditions of society at the present time and the feudalism of the middle ages is striking and instructive. The modern barons, more powerful than their military prototypes, levy tribute on all our vast industries. The corporations have become conscious of their strength, and have entered up on the work of controlling the States. Already they have captured the oldest and strongest of them and these discrowned sovereigns follow in chains the triumphal chariot of their conquerors."—James A. Garfield.

Roscoe Conklin, the stalwart of the stalwart republican senators, in debate in the United States Senate, said, "There has been no progressive act of legislation in the interests of the common people in a score of years."

Sensible Talk.

We believe farmers ought to take an interest in politics—it is a duty they owe to themselves, their posterity and the country. Corrupt government caters to the speculative interests and lays its heaviest burdens upon labor, and farmers are the first to feel its effects. For instance: the country is blessed with abundant crops, that should go to feed and clothe the world. The poorly fed and half-clad millions in other countries crave our surplus, but those who produce it do not prosper like those who buy it and sell it and gamble with it. Those who produce the wealth that creates millionaires do not share it. They may not agree about the manner in which this condition is brought about, but every reflecting man knows that corrupt politics and bad laws are at the bottom of the trouble. For this reason farmers, especially, should do all in their power to purify the political atmosphere; or, at least, they should refrain from doing anything that will make the matter worse. They should have no hand in the disgraceful scrambles for office which they now behold, but when the time for action comes, they should be on hand with the weight of a pile-driver.—Farm & Ranch.

Turkey Creek Valley Sees Death and Destruction.

QUANAH, Tex., May 15—About twenty miles north of Quanah, running in an easterly direction, lies a fertile valley of a breadth of about eight miles, upon which but yesterday were waving fields of grain and located upon at least every quarter section was a happy and prosperous Greer county farmer. This is Turkey creek valley, a region noted for its rich lands and prosperous farmers. Here came but a few years ago people from almost every state and especially from almost every part of Texas, seeking a home. The lands were here unexcelled by any in the state, and free to any who would settle upon them, and to yield an abundant harvest to any who would tickle the soil with the plow and grain drill.

Yesterday the last rays of the setting sun fell upon a happy people, and from each farmhouse the blue smoke curled, denoting that the frugal housewife was preparing the evening meal. But a few hours afterward and the scene changed to desolation and ruin. A dread cyclone swept down that valley and death and devastation followed in its path.

Couriers from there late this afternoon, coming in for coffins for the dead and assistance for the wounded, say that the scene beggars description. The storm traveled in a northeastern direction and its path, which is one mile across, is a mass of plank and other debris. Those from the scene of the disaster can tell nothing of the extent of the storm, as up to the time of their departure each neighborhood had only time to look after their dead and wounded.

News has been received from two points of the cyclone's path. At one of these Prince Gowen is dead and his wife and baby cannot recover. At the other, Dr. Foord and a son are dead and another son not expected to live. But few that were in the track of the storm escaped without injury, and many of those that may live will be maimed for life.

To-night the full extent of the ruin cannot be secured. Wagons have already been started there with coffins for the dead and provisions and clothing for the living, the latter being donated by Quanah's generous hearted people. To-morrow many people will go to the scene of disaster to render the much needed assistance.

One of the couriers stated to The News man that not a house was left standing in the storm's pathway. Even the "dug-out" could not resist the force of the elements. All were unroofed and in some instances their occupants and contents were unearthed and blown from their retreat.

Live Oak for McCulloch.

May 2, 1892.

Editor Mercury:

Dear Sir and Bro—I see Gen. H. E. McCulloch mentioned as a prospective candidate for governor. Having been personally acquainted with Gen. McCulloch for thirty-five years, and part of the time a neighbor, I feel it to be my duty both as a friend and citizen to raise my voice in his behalf. As a man he has no superior, as a patriot he is without blemish. As a soldier, as a citizen, and as a public servant, when entrusted with public position, he has always been true to the people of Texas. I do not believe that any true Texan will oppose Gen. McCulloch for any position that can be induced to accept. Let them remember that he fought for Texas before many of us were born; that he has ever fought on the side of freedom and right, and is just the man we want in the present crisis. I am honest in what I say. I do not believe that there is a man living in Texas to day that has done as much for Texas as has H. E. McCulloch. If the people of Texas desire a governor who will uphold their rights, let them support H. E. McCulloch. He is all wool, a yard wide, and will not shrink from washing.

The Auxiliary Circulation.

Thus far in consideration of the auxiliary, I have treated on its practicability and usefulness as a factor in the promotion of justice and prosperity; but have not yet spoken of the liability of inflation, whereof provision to counteract it must be made, at least while the issue is at its acme. That is, understand, the auxiliary being given the function of money, it, when issued, would augment the volume of money, and thereupon need provision for regulation.

For the government to act directly with the people instead of acting through corporations or middle classes and extorting from them unneccessary taxes in their trade, is my policy. Hence, my method, to issue the auxiliary directly to the people, and have provision made to prevent an over-issue and insure regularity and equity generally.

This auxiliery could be issued in the form only of negotiable certificates bearing interest, without the function of money, as the CEDULAS under banking in the Argentine Republic, and then the mortger sell these certificates for money and in this way no regulation required; but this would only again leave a means for middle and non-working classes to prey on the mortgager. So the same with other methods of issuing it otherwise than those directly by the government to the people and subject to private speculation, the people get it not at original costs and are encroached to that extent. No more need would there be for the government to issue this auxiliary to middle classes for them to extort their rates and be oppressive to those in need of the auxiliary to that extent than there is any need now for the government to issue the postage stamps to middle classes for them to extort their rates and enhance the price thereof and be oppressive to those using the stamps to that extent instead of issuing them directly to the people at original costs.

However, not as much precaution against inflation need there be as might be supposed. In the first place the augmentation of the volume of money by the auxiliary would never be greater than the amount of auxiliary under actual loan, since the new issues merely take the place of those whose time expires—such as I described in the previous chapter. And secondly, to promote the greatest justice the volume of money should be in harmony with the volume of business to be transacted; whereas, the volume of business being constantly at a fluctuation, the volume of money must too be in fluctuation accordingly. But by the nature of the question at the very time there would be the greatest patronage of the auxiliary, the volume of business would be the greatest, being there would then be the greatest demand for it; so that, to a great extent, this auxiliary would only serve to level or regulate the incessant volume of money instead of being required to be regulated itself. This would at least be true with loans from six months to a year, as those who have use for money that length of time could want it, universally, for no other purpose than to transact a portion of the swelling business.

Even the portion of the auxiliary directly used for other purposes than to meet the swelling volume of business (long loans not excepted), provided no over-issue, is as liable to serve in keeping the incessant volume of money regulated by augmenting it when the volume of business is at its maximum than to prove a determent by being excessive when the volume of business is at its minimum. It is here that the temporary mediums of exchange, postage stamps, negotiable notes, etc., when used as such, have no tendency to cause inflation nor financial determent, the volume of business being at a fluctuation they serve as murh (or more, for a reason given above,) to meet the deficiency when the volume of business is at its maximum as to produce inflation when the volume of business is at its minimum.

The principal regulation of this auxiliary needed, would be enactments preventing undue application for loans beyond the needs for the welfare of the people, and at such rates and such amounts only as will make the security to the government valid and infalliable; and restraint against an over-issue, if ever possible, by provision to call in a percentage of loans, from time to time, upon reasonable notice—such as by Congress may be deemed expedient.

So, being there are constant swells in busness, as at different seasons of the year, and a corresponding demand for a greater volume of money, no device could be better fitted to meet the emergency than this auxiliary under such regulation. And for superior and for more equitable would even this auxiliary without any regulation whatever concomitant with the incessant volume of money whereof I have made provision, be than the inadequate and formless volume under the government since the last war. That the volume of money should have been under such control of certain classes for mercenary purposes so as to contribute about half less per capita since 1880, is a shame and disgrace to a people who style themselves citizens of self-government.

The capitalists and money lenders generally may ridicule and denounce the idea of obtaining money under such cheap rates. But they must know that money is a public medium to serve for the public to make exchange, the same as wagon roads are public mediums to serve the public for travel and transportation, or the same as government buildings are public mediums to serve as places to transact public business; and that the government should lack no more to provide this medium for the public to the fullest extent of their need or that is available to them, than that the government should lack to provide the public with wagon roads to the fullest extent of their need or that is available to them, or should lack to provide the people with government buildings to the fullest extent of their need or that is available to them.

And not until the farming classes get this provision established, enabling them to have land available for prompt money raising the rame as are stocks or bonds, not until then have they their rights equally with the classes of existing corporations, and not until then (all other things equal) are they citizens of a government which gives equal rights to all, special privileges to none, and the greatest welfare and prosperity to the greatest number.

OTHER QUOTATIONS—MONEY.

It is also to be inferted from what I have formulated that under my circulatory medium of exchange, there are three kinds of money: money of intrinsic value, comprising the most valuable kinds of metals; treasury notes for convenience and to the extent a scarcity of material of intrinsic value exists or that the government can not afford, whose expressed value is guaranteed and bonded to the bearer by the government, and as an anfaliable security the resources, the faith and the property of the Nation are pledged, known by fiat money; and notes which are secured through mortgages, known by auxiliary money—MONEY OF INTRINSIC VALUE, FIAT MONEY AND AUXILIARY MONEY.

The money of intrinsic value and the fiat money come under what I know as the incessant circulation, and the auxiliary money under what I know as the auxiliary circulation.

By FIAT MONEY I mean, as partly given, money which has no intrinsic value and circulated on no deposits or mortgages, but which is made legal tender, and as a security, and for the redemption whereof when required, the resources, the faith and the property of the Nation are pledged, and which a creditor is compelled to take by law in payment of the debt. So also, then, the money of intrinsic value is fiat to the extent there is a deficiency of such value.

By INCESSANT CIRCULATION, I mean that part of the monetary medium which is in circulation incessantly; and by AUXILIARY CIRCULATION I mean that part of the monetary medium which is put into circulation only at times by individuals, and which is again relinquished as soon as their purpose is accomplished.

The incessant circulation is explanatory in itself; but the auxiliary circulation needs explanation, which in part I gave heretofore, and to which I will refer again.

In the latter part of the chapter devoted to banking I said: "there can a difference be made between the notes of the auxiliary circulation and the notes of the incessant circulation,—have the notes of the auxiliary circulation of a cheaper nature and good only for the time they are contracted for (the date when and place where given and the time of expiration put on the note), when, at the expiration of the time, the bearer thereof would go to the nearest bank and exchange it for money of the incessant circulation and the expired auxiliary note destroyed; when also at the place it was contracted for, the money would be refunded by the contractor, else the obligation again renewed."

I will illustrate by example. Say A wishes to make a little investment for a year, wherein he needs one hundred dollars, and has nothing available for prompt money raising but land. He would then go to the department of banking in the postoffice building and give his mortgage on his land. The mortgage would be filed away by the respective department, and A would have filled out to him the blank auxiliary in whatever sums he would wish, say five twenty dollar bills, the date when and place where given and the time of expiration put on the notes, and then signed and sealed by the proper officials. Say now he had made his investment, and say his auxiliary money had gone abroad; and the time for him to pay his obligation has arrived. Now on the day it is due, he goes to the respective department and pays his debt and lifts his mortgage; while on the same day the men abroad go to their nearest bank and present their expired auxiliary, and obtain other money, communication betwixt the former and the other banks is had, and the obligation cancelled.

This would be a very simple, practical and economical mode for the government to deal directly with the people. Even very similar would this auxiliary be to the postal notes now under the postal system. Here, the postal notes have expressed the amount the bearer is entitled, and that it is good for three months; and that after the expiration of which time it is worthless. The only difference between these auxiliary notes and these postal notes is that the auxiliary notes are secured by mortgages and are good for different lengths of time, while the postal notes are secured by paying directly to postmaster the respective amount and are good for the time of three months only. And so, as far as practicability and economy is concerned, one is as practical and economical as the other.

Some, probably, are there who will find fault with the securities upon which this fiat money, and the auxiliary money is to circulate. In the first case, the objection is spurious because there wouldn't be enough gold and silver in the world to put on deposit to serve as security upon which to circulate it; and besides it is a selfevident fact that no security under a democracy can be made more valid and infallible than one endorsed and guaranteed by the people collectively or the Nation. And in the second case the objection is spurious because by mortgage is ment to comprehend a security of such nature which is valid and infallible. Besides the auxiliary is again secured by the nation or is fiat during the time of its circulation on top of its mortgage.

Good News!
No one, who is willing to adopt the right course, need be long afflicted with boils, carbuncles, pimples, or other cutaneous eruptions. These are the results of Nature's efforts to expel poisonous and effete matter from the blood, and show plainly that the system is ridding itself through the skin of impurities which it was the legitimate work of the liver and kidneys to remove. To restore these organs to their proper functions, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the medicine required. That no other blood-purifier can compare with it, thousands testify who have gained from the tyranny of depraved blood by the use of this medicine.
"For nine years I was afflicted with a skin disease that did not yield to any remedy until a friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. With the use of this medicine the complaint disappeared. It is my belief that no other blood medicine could have effected so rapid and complete a cure."—Andres D. Garcia, C. Victoria, Tamaulipas, Mexico.
"My face, for years, was covered with pimples and humors, for which I could find no remedy till I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Three bottles of this great blood medicine effected a thorough cure. I confidently recommend it to all suffering from similar troubles."—M. Parker, Concord, Vt.

Dallas (Texas) Farm and Ranch: There is as much humbug in the cry of "paternalism" in political, as in "malaria" in medical parlance. The intention of each is to deceive the people.

San Antonio (Texas) Stockman: We verily believe the masses of the people of Texas are not to be led by party bosses any longer. We believe they are going to practice what they preach and vote as they pray—for reformation.
